

Before You Begin Your Job Search

You should be able to answer these questions before beginning your job search:

- What is the general type of job you want?
- What specific job or job titles are most appropriate for you to look for now?
- Which adaptive and transferable skills do you have that this job requires?
- What special training or education do you have that directly supports your doing this job well?
- Does the job require you to use any special tools or equipment? If so, what experience do you have in using them?
- What specific work experiences, similar duties, tasks, responsibilities and other factors relate to you doing this job well?
- What else can you offer that supports your doing this job well?
